Biographical Sketch

Gary Gereffi is Emeritus Professor of Sociology and Founding Director of the Global Value Chains Center at Duke University (<https://gvcc.duke.edu/>). He received his B.A. degree from the University of Notre Dame and his M.Phil. and Ph.D. degrees from Yale University. He was also awarded an Honorary Doctorate in Economics and Management from the University of Padova, Italy on March 13, 2023. Gereffi has published over a dozen books and numerous articles on globalization, global supply chains, and economic, social, and environmental upgrading, and he is an originator of the Global Value Chains (GVC) framework. Recent books include: China's New Development Strategies: Upgrading from Above and from Below in Global Value Chains (G. Gereffi, P. Bamber, and K. Fernandez-Stark, eds.), Palgrave Macmillan, Sept. 2022; Handbook on Global Value Chains (S. Ponte, G. Gereffi, and G. Raj-Reichert, eds.), Edward Elgar Publishing, 2019; Global Value Chains and Development: Redefining the Contours of 21st Century Capitalism (G. Gereffi), Cambridge University Press, 2018; and Global Value Chains in a Postcrisis World: A Development Perspective (O. Cattaneo, G. Gereffi, and C. Staritz, eds.), The World Bank, 2010.

Current projects include: (1) the COVID-19 pandemic and medical supply chains; (2) the digital economy and its effect on international business and innovation strategies; (3) the impact of U.S. protectionism on jobs and regional trade agreements; and (4) shifting trade and investment patterns in the United States and East Asia, with a focus on China and Mexico.

Professor Gereffi testified at the U.S. Senate Commerce Committee hearings on “Implementing Supply Chain Resiliency” in Washington, DC on July 15, 2021 (see Duke interview). He was an academic facilitator and commentator for the 2022 Supply Chain Ministerial hosted by U.S. Secretary of State Anthony Blinken and Secretary of Commerce Gina Raimondo with 17 partner economies and the European Union on July 19-20, 2022.
